Cookies and Other Tracking Technologies

We, our affiliates and/or other persons acting on our or their behalf use cookies and similar technology, such as web beacons (also known as clear GIFs or pixel tags), or similar technologies as they may develop over time to collect, use, and share information when you visit our Website or interact with us online, via email or through other electronic means. Cookies are small pieces of data sent from a website and stored on a device. Cookies may enable us to capture and compile statistical information about how you use our Services, including information relating to your device’s IP address, the frequency of your visits, readership data (such as the average length of visits, which pages are viewed or shared during a visit or other interactions with our content, such as time spent viewing videos, PDFs read and links clicked), authentication information, acceptance or rejection of website terms, and periods of inactivity. To learn more about cookies, including information on what cookies have been set on your device and how cookies can be managed and deleted, visit <https://www.allaboutcookies.org/>

Our Website also uses web beacons. Web beacons are invisible tags and may be placed on a webpage, in advertisements, or in an email or other message. They usually work in conjunction with cookies, registering when a particular device visits a particular page. For example, web beacons may count the number of individuals who visit our Website from a particular advertisement or who enroll in a service after viewing a particular advertisement.

“Clickstream” data (e.g., information regarding which of our Website pages you access, the frequency of such access, and your product and service preferences) may be collected by Hydrosat itself, or by our service providers, using cookies, web beacons, page tags, or similar tools that are set when you visit the Website or when you view an advertisement we may have placed on another website. Clickstream data and similar information may be shared internally within Hydrosat and used for administrative purposes to assess the usage, value and performance of our online products and Services; to improve your experience with the Website; and as otherwise permitted by applicable law or regulation. This information may be processed by us for the purposes described above, or on our behalf by other entities, solely in accordance with our instructions.

How We Use These Technologies

We, our services providers, and third party business partners may use information collected from cookies, web beacons, and similar technologies for the following purposes:

- to allow our Services to operate as you have requested; to understand how our Services are accessed and used; to recognize you when you return to our Website;
- to assess the effectiveness of advertising and readership content;
- to deliver marketing communications that may be of interest to you, including ads or offers tailored to you; and
- for other purposes described above under “USE OF PERSONAL INFORMATION.”

We may combine the information that we collect through cookies, web beacons and similar technologies with other personal information we have collected from you from both online and offline sources.

We may work with service providers to promote our products and Services both on the Website and other websites. For example, if you visit a page on the Website or third-party websites that provides information about one of our products or Services, a cookie may be placed on your browser or device that identifies the product or service you viewed. This information allows us, our service providers, and our third-party business partners to deliver more relevant and tailored content, such as ads for that particular product or service.

Other than service providers, we do not allow unaffiliated third parties to collect personal information about your activities on the Website.

Managing Your Preferences

Web Browser Preferences

Many web browsers allow you to manage your preferences. You can set your browser to refuse cookies or delete certain cookies. Unless you have adjusted your browser setting so that it will reject cookies, our system may issue cookies when you access or use our Services. We have internal policies governing the proper handling of consumer information by personnel and requiring third parties that provide support or marketing services on our behalf to adhere to appropriate security standards with respect to such information. The security of your personal information is important to us, but please note that no method of transmission over the Internet, or method of electronic storage is perfectly secure. While we strive to use commercially acceptable means to protect your personal information, we cannot guarantee its absolute security.

The Website and our Services are United States-based, and are controlled, operated and administered from our offices within the United States. However, Hydrosat, its operations, workforce, and service providers are located throughout the world. Depending on how you interact with us, your personal information may be handled and stored in, accessed from, or transferred to different countries. Whenever we transfer personal information to different countries, we take steps to ensure that the personal information we transfer receives adequate protection in the jurisdictions that we handle or store it.

We disclaim all liability, to the extent permissible, with regard to your access to such linked websites. Access to any other websites is at your own discretion and we encourage you to read the privacy statements of each and every website or Services visited in order to learn how such third parties may treat your information.

Information Collected from Third Party Companies

We may receive personal information and/or anonymous data about you from companies that provide our Services or products by way of a co-branded or private-labeled website or companies that offer their products and/or services on the Website. We may add this information to the personal information we have already collected from you via the Website or Services in order to improve the Services we provide, the features we offer you, or the functionality of the Website.

Email Communications

We will periodically send you free newsletters and e-mails that directly promote our products, our business partners' products, the use of our Website or the Services. When you receive newsletters or promotional communications from us, you may indicate a preference to stop receiving further communications from us and you will have the opportunity to "opt-out" by following the unsubscribe instructions provided in the e-mail you receive or by contacting us directly (please see contact information below).
